

B CORP BOOST

At its heart, B Corp certification is a commitment to continual improvement. While certification itself is a fantastic achievement, it's just the start. Using the B Impact Assessment (BIA) as a framework for embedding sustainability and ethics into business operations and strategy is a fantastic way to ensure your business is improving year on year. And the recertification process is an opportunity to evidence that commitment to ongoing improvement. The goal is to give you confidence going into recertification and to ensure your final submitted score accurately reflects the improvements you have implemented since certification.
